New School and Bond Issue Carry At New Lenox

The new school proposition which has been agitating New Lenox for sometime, came to a definite head last Saturday when a special school election was held to vote on the matter of a new school and the issuance of $26,000 in bonds to pay for a part of the building costs.

The proposition went over with 20 majority, 90 votes being cast in favor and 70 against. The bond issue carried by a good majority.

The new school will be built on the present school site early next summer. The building is to be so constructed that additions can be added should occasion require.

This is another big forward step in the advancement and upbuilding of New Lenox.

Father and Son Banquet Big New Lenox Affair

One of the biggest social affairs of the season is the Father and Son Banquet to be held at the M. E. church parlors for the benefit of the Boy Scouts. Special talent from WLS has been engaged for the entertainment part of the program. A very fine time is assured. The mothers of the Boy Scouts will do the serving. Tickets are now on sale at $2 each. This means one ticket admits both father and son. The affair is coming off Dec. 2nd.

New Lenox Petition Signed for Incorporation

The proposition of incorporating New Lenox is claiming quite a good deal of attention in New Lenox. A petition has already been circulated and signed so whenever the citizens are ready to vote on the question it will be only necessary to file the petition with the county clerk and have the county judge call an election. The petition provides for the incorporate limits to be two miles square. The limits would extend to the Michigan Central railroad on the south, east of the Wabash and north to the Sayers corner taking in the Brookwood subdivision and west to take in the McIntosh subdivision. Three railroads would thus be in the incorporate limits beside the gas line and telephone and electric lines.

Hunter Fined For Violating Law

Hunting is quite an expensive sport in Frankfort township if the game laws are violated, it was proved in the court of Justice Frank J. Kohlhaugen at Frankfort when two men from Chicago Heights were given stiff fines. One hunter shot pheasants out of season and the other one was charged with shooting a hen pheasant. Both drew a fine of $100 and costs. Two other hunters were arrested on less serious charges and were fined $25 and costs each. Last week a Chicago Heights high school boy was caught without a license. His case is set for next Saturday.

Habit Formation

By Prof. Clarence Uhl

We are known by our habits. We can distinguish a friend at a distance by his habitual walk, his voice, his language, his dress. Our friends know us as a bundle of habits. They know that a certain stimulus will always bring the same response. It is well that we do form habits, and that we do make the ordinary responses to our environment habitual. If we had to think out the process each time we wanted to shave, comb our hair, use a fork to cut meat, read, write, spell we would not be able to give any time to the higher processes of thought or the bigger things of life, we would be spending all of our time on the incidentals. The more good automatic actions we have up to a certain point the better it is for us. People learn most of their common every day habits while they are children. They may be taught to be polite, be considerate of others, to keep their room clean and tidy, to keep their clothes cleaned and pressed, to be honest, thrifty, to eat properly, to go to bed promptly without fussing, arise at the first call, be prompt in everything, to keep all promises, work for mother without being told or coaxed, to use correct English, to do a great deal of outside reading, to practise their music without being told, and all other good qualities that we hope often in vain that our children would possess. All these things could be made a part of the every day life of every average child if the parents consciously used their best knowledge in creating these habits in their children. But we cannot direct our children in a hit or miss fashion and expect them to be ideal children. There are some very simple rules of habit formation that would aid every parent in training his children or in helping him form new habits in his own life.

These rules are made from the observations of those who have been successful throughout the ages. The first essential is the wholehearted desire for improvement in the case of breaking an old habit or in forming a new habit. In a very young child where this is impossible the parent should see to it that this child is started properly in the desired forms of behavior before he has a chance to do the act any other way. After the child realizes the need for the new habit he must be shown exactly what is expected of him. It is not enough to tell him that you want him to be a nice boy, you must tell him exactly what is wanted and how to acquire the new habit. He must allow no exceptions to occur, the right act must be used at every opportunity. The exceptions are the usual causes of our failures if we fail. There must be satisfaction when the act is done properly, this ought to be in the form of a feeling of his own improvement or in praise from his parent or teacher or from some one whose remarks are valued by the child. Exterior rewards like money or candy are not good because as soon as the satisfaction ceases the habit forming ceases unless his interest has been transferred from the exterior reward to a desire for an inward change in his life. Punishment ought also to be given when the act is wrong. The best punishment is the feeling of failure given by a sign of disapproval or disappointment from the parent. But the in this respect. Good examples in the lives of the parents are also in-

A THANKSGIVING

—by W. H. PIERCE

WE THANK thee, thou Most High, for youth,
For, though 'tis fleeting, yet forsooth
'Tis filled with freshness and with hope,
And all unfathomed is the scope
Of pain, of sorrow, or of sin,
And sordid cares ne'er enter in
The bright young years; and naught is seen
Save through the rosy, golden sheen
That shimmers in the summer sun.
Hope wins the race before 'tis run,
And knows, though skies may weep today,
The morrow's sun will drive away
All clouds. And so we say, in truth,
We thank thee, thou Most High, for youth.

WE GIVE thee, Master, thanks for age.
The whitened hair that marks the gauge
Placed on our brows by passing years
Tells us our weary journey nears
Its ending, and our backward glance
Is keen and searching, lest perchance
Some stumbling-block of ours be placed Athwart the path some soul has traced;
The morrow—that is left with thee,
For we have learned humility;
We know ourselves; this lesson taught By hard experience, has brought
The weary sojourner his wage.
We give thee, Master, thanks for age.

WE GIVE thee, Father, thanks for death.
Relying on thy word, which saith
"I am thy way," we take thy hand,
And, by thy side, just waiting, stand Ready the little step to take
'Tween Here and There; to sleep, to wake,
To live again, and so to learn
The lessons from which now we turn
As deep and far beyond our ken,
We blind, unseeing sons of men;
We do not hear, we cannot see
And, helpless, can but turn to thee,
O Father, and with trembling breath,
We thank thee most of all for death.

Auto Collision--Suit

Several weeks ago Immanuel Engleman of Frankfort and Roy Schmidt of Green Garden figured in a head-on auto collision near the picnic grove north of Frankfort. Mr. Engleman has brought suit against Schmidt for damages to his car. Engleman is represented by Attorney A. H. Krusemark. The case is set for Friday afternoon of this week before Justice Frank J. Kohlhaugen. Mr. Schmidt works for Irvin Harnack in Green Garden.

Makes Xmas flowers

Mrs. Florence Mahoney, an invalid mother of Mokena who has been making waxed water lilies to raise funds to send her little son thru school, is now also making imitation sweet peas and poinsettias. These flowers are all the vogue and just the thing for Christmas gifts. Mrs. Mahoney has been receiving quite a number of orders for the water lilies. Any orders given her will be greatly appreciated.

valuable in helping the children to see the ideal performance.

If parents would use these simple rules—1. Create a desire in the child for his improvement. 2. Show him exactly what is required of him. 3. Help him to use every opportunity that presents itself as a practise time for the new habit. Never allow an exception to occur. 4. Administer rewards and punishments as seem to work best in the particular case, remembering that the parents approval or disapproval is better than candy or money. 5. Keep his attention fixed on the new habit. 6. Help him to continue his practise until the act becomes habitual, that is, an act that he always performs without being reminded of it or without thinking of it himself—they could have the ideal children and young people that they desire in their home.

HOW ABOUT A COMMUNITY XMAS TREE?

The above question has been heard quite frequently on the streets of Mokena of late and the News-Bulletin can see no reason why Mokena can not have a community Christmas tree. Let the public school and the churches of the village as well as the business people get together and back up the idea. The News-Bulletin is ready to do its part. It would not cost much and would mean a treat for kiddies and grownups alike. What say?

Last year a community Christmas party was held at the Cooper & Hostert garage and Santa Claus also came and the older folks as well as the kiddies got a big "kick" out of it. All ready let's go!!

Romance of the Beaver Hat

How many people know that the beaver hat was responsible for several wars and kept politics of Europe and the American colonies stirred up for the greater part of 2 centuries? It is true, for demand for that picturesque piece of headgear was the backbone of the fur trade, and it was a desire on the part of both nations to control that produced the great struggles between England and France, various wars and minor conflicts with the Indians, and in reality laid one of the corner stones of the American Revolution. It is all told very charmingly, along with a fascinating love story and a great narrative of exciting adventures in the historical romance, "The Doom Trail," by Arthur D. Howden Smith, which is to appear as a serial in the News-Bulletin. Do not miss it.

Rev. Fields to Speak at Mokena M. E. Church

Next Sunday, November the 28th Rev. Forrest A. Fields, pastor of the Tinley Park Methodist Episcopal Church, will be the speaker at the Evening Service of the Mokena M. E. Church. The subject of Rev. Fields' sermon will be, "The High Cost of Christianity."

Mr. Fields came to Tinley Park as a student pastor a year ago. He comes from Oklahoma as does Rev. Beatty, pastor of the Mokena church, and is a long time close friend of local pastor. At a reception recently given in honor of Mr. Beatty's return to Mokena for the second year, and in memory of his recent ordination, Mr. Fields acted as chairman of the program, and also spoke. It became known at this reception through the talks of both young men, that it was through the influence of Mr. Fields that the Mokena pastor came into the ministry.

Rev. Forrest A. Fields

Forrest Fields became a regular pastor at the age of eighteen, and spent several years in Oklahoma as a student pastor and as a statewide young people's worker. He was known in Oklahoma as the "Boy Preacher of Oklahoma." He has done much evangelistic work as well as his regular pastoral callings. During the past summer, he was called to Oklahoma to spend several weeks in special meetings and young people's work.

Mr. Fields preached at Mokena one Sunday in September 1925, before Mr. Beatty arrived on the field. His message was enjoyed by all.

Every since that time, the Mokena pastor and congregation have sought a time when Mr. Fields might again meet many Mokena friends by way of the pulpit. That time has only now come.

The service is at seven o'clock. Everyone is invited to attend.

OSTRICH GRACES FORMAL FROCKS; SHOW NOVEL STYLING IN PAJAMAS

NOW that society is banqueting, dancing, attending opera and making merry until the "wee sma' hours" of the morn, the mode is called upon to devise beauteous gowns for each lovely occasion. One of the fascinating fashions for evening this season is the pastel-colored supple velvet or chiffon frock graced with long flues of self-colored ostrich.

Sometimes a shoulder ornament of the ostrich complements that which accents the modish irregular hemline. A very delightful evening frock of pale-green shaded chiffon recently arrived from across seas showed not only ostrich about the hemline in deep points and at the shoulder, but a third touch was added in the way of a monture of ostrich at the girdle.

The exquisite mauve panne velvet evening gown in this picture, which is a Doucet creation, artistically accents a unique hemline with drooping ostrich flues. There is an introduction of silver embroidery on the blouse front, with a knotted detail of velvet at the waistline, which are effective.

It is apparent throughout the evening mode that ostrich plays a very important role. Not only is the formal gown and wrap of velvet lavishly embellished with ostrich, but milady is ated. Why not buy some pretty material and copy one or the other of the models shown in this picture? The model to the left was designed by that distinguished couturier, Madam Lanvin. It is developed of Brittany blue crepe de chine, with broad sash in oriental effect.

There is a decided charm in the one-piece pajamas offered by Lelong as shown here to the right. One finds a novelty touch in material and general design quite to one's liking when it comes to the intimate robes of one's boudoir. Therefore the mammoth polka dots of the crepe de chine seem just the thing for pajamas which youth delights to don. The quaint again carrying a huge ostrich fan. Indeed so pronounced is the vogue for ostrich, even fantastic hand bags are made of ostrich which covers a fabric foundation.

Young girls wear with simplest of tinted chiffon or velvet frocks, a boutonniere of ostrich inset with colorful flowers.

The latest ostrich novelty is that which is gilded or silvered. On brocades of rare and colorful weave, ostrich thus treated appears in regal splendor.

An outcome of this vogue for ostrich is the boa, long, reaching to the very hemline of the frock, or short, assuming the form of a fanciful neck ruff.

As a substitute for the nightie

Buster Brown collar and tie, also the gypsy sash are charming details warranted to please any young girl who delights in cunning frivolities, such as the mode calls "clown" pajamas.

Appearing among the latest models are the "Mexican" pajamas as the creator of this type is pleased to call them. They are thus captioned on account of the decided flare at the bottom of the trousers, this being characteristic of the native Mexican costume.

Interest is mostly centered just now in the tailored pajama. These pajamas are often composed of two contrasting materials, a solid color bordering a figured fabric, is popular.

NO CHANGE IN PRICE AT McVICKERS THRU HOLIDAYS

Contrary to the custom of advancing prices for all holiday performances, especially for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, the Warner Bros., from their New York offices, notified their representatives in Chicago that the regular scale would prevail for all performances at McVicker's and Woods.

At McVickers, John Barrymore in "Don Juan" and a Vitaphone prologue, making up the initial Vitaphone bill, is in its tenth week and Syd Chaplin in "The Better 'Ole" and a Vitaphone program co-starring Al Jolson, George Jessel, and Elsie Janis, the Howard Bros., and others open at the Woods Theatre, Thursday night, December 2nd.

"We will not advance our prices. I regard such a policy as one of the chief causes for the public's constantly decreasing interest in the theatre," said H. M. Warner, head of Warner Bros. Pictures, Incorporated. "To raise the prices of tickets for holidays and other special occasions, when there is an added interest in the theatre, is a practice of gouging which we will not tolerate in our theatres. Our aim is to give the public the best entertainment possible, both on the Vitaphone and pictures, at the lowest possible scale of prices consistent with good business," the producer said.

A group of Vitaphone engineers are here installing the special equipment at the Woods, to have everything in readiness for the opening Thursday evening, December 2nd.

Drink Water to Help Wash Out Kidney Poison

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Summer Strategy

"Strange that Mrs. Brown should close up her delightful house."

"She left home, my dear, for the same reason many other women leave home in the summer time."

"For change and recreation?"

"No; to visit some other woman who would otherwise visit her."—Boston Transcript.

Grandmother Knew

there was nothing so good for congestion and colds as mustard. But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered.

Musterole gives the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Gently rub it in. See how quickly the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frostbitten feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

Better than a mustard plaster

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Are these the choice dishes the doctor has sent us?

Is this the great poet whose works so content us?

This Goldsmith's fine feast, who has written fine books?

Heaven sends us good meat but the devil sends cooks.

—David Garrick.

SO GOOD

When serving wild duck, garnish with slices of orange unpeeled and garnished with sprigs of parsley. The slightly acid fruit adds to the flavor of the duck. As a salad to serve with duck, oranges are especially good; serve with French dressing.

Orange and Rhubarb Ice.—Combine one cupful of orange juice with three and one-half cupfuls of cooked sifted rhubarb, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, the grated rind of an orange and one and three-quarters cupfuls of sugar. Stir until well dissolved, then freeze as usual.

Apple Fritters.—Mix and sift together one and one-third cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, add one well-beaten egg and two-thirds of a cupful of milk; mix all together. Cut two medium-sized apples into eighths, stir into the batter. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat and fry until brown. Roll in powdered sugar and serve with meat at dinner.

Swiss Cheese Savor.—Dip round slices of bread in melted butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper and a little lemon juice. Put one-half pound of Swiss cheese through the meat grinder, add one tablespoonful of chopped parsley and the same of pimento, two tablespoonfuls of creamed butter, four tablespoonfuls of cream with salt and pepper to taste. Pipe through a pastry tube over the bread, sprinkle with paprika and put into the oven to heat hot.

Jellied Apples.—Pare, core and slice one quart of apples. Butter a baking dish and put a layer of apples, cover with a layer of sugar, repeating until all the apples are used. Add one-half cupful of hot water, cover and bake three hours. Soften one tablespoonful of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water and dissolve in one-quarter of a cupful of boiling water. Mix carefully through the hot apples, turn into a mold and when chilled serve with cream.

Egg Sauce.—Beat well two eggs, separating the yolks and whites. To the yolks add one cupful of powdered sugar, one-fourth cupful of hot milk and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Fold in the beaten whites and serve at once.

Apple Ice.—Cut up six large tart apples and boil with four cupfuls of water and the rind of a lemon until soft. Drain, add two cupfuls of sugar and boil for three minutes. Add the juice of two lemons and the juice of an orange, mix all together and freeze.

Ways With Meats.

Some of the following dishes may be prepared from left-over meats; these are but suggestions which may be varied to suit the occasion:

Chili Stew.—Take one and one-half pounds of round steak, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of butter, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of olive oil, six tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, four cloves of garlic, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, three teaspoonfuls of chili powder, two teaspoonfuls of salt, three cupfuls of canned tomatoes, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour. Grind the steak or cut in small bits, melt the butter, add the oil in a deep frying pan, add onion, garlic and fry until a light brown. While frying, add the Worcestershire sauce and chili powder, stir until well blended. Pour in enough water to just cover the bottom of the pan, add the meat and almost cover with water. Cook slowly for fifteen minutes, then add the tomato and salt. Blend the flour with a little tomato juice and add to the stew, then place in a fire-proof dish and bake in the oven for an hour. Serve with rice or noodles.

Veal Pie.—Cook a piece of veal from the neck or any cheap cut, until tender, with small piece of salt pork. Cut into bits and arrange in a baking dish, add cream seasonings, cover with a rich biscuit crust and bake until brown.

Chili Con Carni.—Take a half pound of lean and fat pork (fresh), add one and one-half pounds of round steak; put the meat through the meat grinder. Brown three good-sized, sliced onions, add the meat, one dried chili pepper, two quarts of tomato, salt, pepper to taste, three tablespoonfuls of chili powder and cook slowly three hours, then add two cans of kidney beans and let the whole stand to cook another half hour. Serve hot.

Ragout of Mutton.—Cut cold roast or boiled mutton into one-inch pieces. Take one tablespoonful of butter, add one of flour, one-half pint of seasoned stock, season with salt and pepper, three drops of tabasco sauce, a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce and a pinch of asafoetida. Add the mutton, heat until boiling hot, then add one tablespoonful of currant jelly and orange juice. Serve hot.

CHRISTMAS TRIFLES THAT ARE SUITABLE

Jade Trees Flourish

From old and cultured China came the little "jade tree" which is so much admired everywhere. It has been imitated in many ways and has quaint, stiff flowers fashionable for decorative purposes. These are made in several ways: some of translucent shells, tinted in colors, others of ordinary fabric flowers dipped in clear shellac, and others of crepe paper, heavily painted with sealing wax paint, as in the tree pictured. Thread wire is used to support the edges of the petals and leaves and heavier wire wound with strips of paper for the stems. A pot or jardiniere holds the tree, which makes a lovely gift.

Meant to Be Useful

There are a number of things that this pretty lady can do besides merely being pretty, and therefore she presents herself as a pleasing Christmas gift for other dainty ladies. A little doll torso, mounted on a wire frame, is dressed up in pinnated skirt and surplice bodice, like a colonial belle. Her dress may be of crisp silk or of fine crepe paper and she wears a cluster of little flowers on her corsage, and a band of ribbon about her hair. Sometimes she shades an electric light, and sometimes conceals a telephone, or she may cover a bottle of toilet water.

Gifts Made of Ribbon

A wristbag full of joy awaits any member of the family who wakes up Christmas morning to find herself possessing a bit of finery like the pretty bag, or the garters shown here. The bag is simply made of two pieces of wide, black ribbon cut rounded at one end and sewed together. Two shirred tucks are run in above the seam. It is lined with colored silk and gathered into a fligree silver mounting. Narrow black and pink satin ribbon is shirred over flat elastic for the garters, which are finished with bows and rhinestone ornaments.

A Pretty Glove Box

Thin brocaded silk, glued smoothly, with a stainless glue, over a heavy cardboard box, makes this pretty glove box. The silk turns over the edge a half inch and a narrow strip of it forms the hinge. The box is lined with heavy mottled paper and fancy gold braid borders the top and the small picture at the center.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

OCCUPATION AND VISION

WHAT is the relation between a man's work and his vision? The United States public health service has just completed a ten years' study on this point with some interesting results.

The workmen studied were taken from ten various occupations. They are pottery, post-office, glass, gas, foundry, steel, chemical, cement, cigar, and garment workers. In these ten lines thirty thousand workers were examined as to their eyes, ten thousand men and twenty thousand women.

This number naturally included men and women of all races and nationalities, yet no essential differences were found in the different races. They ran about the same proportion of normal and defective eyes.

But when the different occupations were compared there were striking differences. The two groups which showed the highest percentage of defective vision were the garment workers and the post-office employees.

Not only did the figures show a surprisingly close relationship to the individual work but also to the length of service in that particular line. Normal vision in both eyes in the group of workers of less than five years' service varied from 24 per cent in garment workers to 73 per cent among foundries. But in persons who had worked ten years and over, normal vision in the garment industry was only 22 per cent, or 2 per cent less than after five years, and in the foundries only 65 per cent after ten years' service instead of 73 after five years' work.

Age naturally had a marked influence. Taking all the thirty thousand workers in all industries, it was found that 77.2 per cent of all under twenty years old had normal vision. That is about the percentage one would expect from any large group of young people. In persons from thirty to forty years old, 60 per cent had normal vision. In those from forty to forty-four, only 49.5 per cent had normal eyes. From fifty to fifty-four, the normal eyes had gone down to 22 per cent, while of those over sixty years of age there were only 5.5 per cent who had normal vision in both eyes.

This tabulation shows as graphically as any figures that have ever been compiled the wear and tear of present-day industry on vision.

A curious point which developed was that in most industries, one good eye was nearly as good for practical purposes as two. Many workers with normal vision in only one eye were entirely unaware that only one eye was of any use to them.

LONG RANGE WEATHER FORECASTING

CIVILIZED man has learned to do much to control his surroundings. He seems almost independent of outside conditions. But one thing he as yet can neither foresee nor control—the weather. As Mark Twain said, in one of his after-dinner speeches, "Everybody talks about it but nobody does anything."

Yet the weather is what determines our crops and our food. Apparently, it is the one thing man cannot foresee or control. Our weather bureau can now forecast the weather with fair accuracy for a day or two in advance, but cannot alter it in any way. That, at least, is some advance. A cousin of mine in Alabama, near Mobile wrote me a graphic letter after the recent Florida hurricane, telling how she and her husband sat for hours by the radio, listening to the broadcaster in Pensacola telling of the progress of that great storm as it swept across Florida straight toward them, yet powerless to check it. At least, they had sufficient warning to get into another house in a more sheltered location from which they saw their own roof blown out to sea. But giving a few hours' warning is at present the limit of our knowledge of the weather.

At a convention of the National League of Commission Merchants of America at New York recently, Mr. Herbert J. Browne of Washington delivered an address on "Long-Range Weather Forecasting," in which he claimed that, by careful study, it might soon be possible to forecast weather conditions, not only days but years ahead.

This new field is only about five years old. Up to that time, 36 hours was the weather bureau's limit. Mr. Browne bases his whole system on the fact that weather conditions, the world over, are controlled by the heat absorbed by the ocean. In a desert, the sand is very hot by day but rapidly cools off when the sun sets, so that one needs a blanket to sleep at night. But water absorbs heat slowly and gives it off just as slowly. The ocean in the tropics absorbs heat from the tropical sun and the heated water causes the great ocean streams like the Gulf stream which then control climate and weather.

What determines the amount of heat which the Gulf stream absorbs? Sun heat. What controls the amount of the sun's heat? Sun spots. And these, says Mr. Browne, run in cycles. So the observer can accurately predict weather months and years in advance.

Kentish Hop Crop

Not all the hops grown in the fields of Kent go to the British brewers, for it is said that the dyers take most of the hops grown in all England. The harvesting of the crop is uncertain business, for picking cannot begin until the hops are ripe and they soon spoil. The pods must go to the oasts, or drying kilns, as soon as they are picked, and if the pickers are too energetic there is waste.

EXPERIENCE OF WESTERN GIRL

Found Cannery Work Too Tiring

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America. This is possible through the magic of the humble tin can.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was a complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 652 North Front St., Salem, Oregon.

Girls who work in factories know just how Miss Schmidt felt. Perhaps they, too, will find better health by taking the Vegetable Compound.

Claims Stomach Souring Causes Bad Breath

New York City, Mr. Ben Loheide writes:—"I was formerly a victim of constant upset stomach, bad taste in the mouth and very disagreeable breath. My bowels were constantly constipated and nothing helped except temporarily. After using Carter's Little Liver Pills I have overcome all troubles and I am especially happy because of a sweet clean healthy breath." Carter's Little Liver Pills are small, sugar coated, easy to take by every member of the family. Their action on the bowels is gentle. 25 & 75c red pkgs. Druggists.

The wolves were silent now. Carvel knew what that meant, and he was tensely alert. In the stillness the click of the safety on his rifle sounded with metallic sharpness. For many minutes they heard nothing but the crack of the fire. Suddenly Baree's muscles seemed to snap. He sprang back, and faced the quarter behind Carvel, his head level with his shoulders, his inch-long fangs gleaming as he snarled into the black caverns of the forest beyond the rim of firelight. Carvel had turned like a shot. It was almost frightening—what he saw. A pair of eyes burning with greenish fire, and then another pair, and after that so many of them that he could not have counted them. He gave a sudden gasp. They were like cat-eyes, only much larger. Some of them, catching the firelight fully, were red as coals, others flashed blue and green—living things without bodies. With a swift glance he took in the black circle of the forest. They were out there, too; they were on all sides of them, but where he had seen them first they were thickest. In these first few seconds he had forgotten Baree, awed almost to stupefaction by that monstrous-eyed cordon of death that hemmed them in. There were fifty—perhaps a hundred wolves out there, afraid of nothing in all this savage world but fire. They had come up without the sound of a padded foot or a broken twig. If it had been later, and they had been asleep, and the fire out—

He shuddered, and for a moment the thought got the better of his nerves. He had not intended to shoot except from necessity, but all at once his rifle came to his shoulder and he sent a stream of fire out where the eyes were thickest. Baree knew what the shots meant, and filled with the mad desire to get at the throat of one of his enemies he dashed in their direction. Carvel gave a startled yell as he went. He saw the flash of Baree's body, saw it swallowed up in the gloom, and in that same instant heard the deadly clash of fangs and the impact of bodies. A wild thrill shot through him. The dog had charged alone—and the wolves had waited. There could be but one end. His four-footed comrade had gone straight into the jaws of death!

He could hear the ravening snap of those jaws out in the darkness. It was sickening. His hand went to the Colt .45 at his belt, and he thrust his empty rifle butt downward into the snow. With the big automatic before his eyes he plunged out into the darkness, and from his lips there issued a wild yelling that could have been heard a mile away. With the yelling a steady stream of fire spat from the Colt into the mass of fighting beasts. There were eight shots in the automatic, and not until the plunger clicked with metallic emptiness, did Carvel cease his yelling and retreat into the firelight. He listened, breathing deeply. He no longer saw eyes in the darkness, nor did he hear the movement of bodies. The suddenness and ferocity of his attack had driven back the wolf-horde. But the dog! He caught his breath, and strained his eyes. A shadow was dragging itself into the circle of light. It was Baree. Carvel ran to him, put his arms under his shoulders, and brought him to the fire.

For a long time after that there was a questioning light in Carvel's eyes. He reloaded his guns, put fresh fuel on the fire, and from his pack dug out strips of cloth with which he bandaged three or four of the deepest cuts in Baree's legs. And a dozen times he asked, in a wondering sort of way, "Now what the deuce made you do that, old chap? What have you got against the wolves?"

All that night he did not sleep, but watched.

Their experience with the wolves broke down the last bit of uncertainty that might have existed between the man and the dog. For days after that, as they traveled slowly north and west, Carvel nursed Baree as he might have cared for a sick child. Because of the dog's hurts, he made only a few miles a day. Baree understood, and in him there grew stronger and stronger a great love for the man whose hands were as gentle as the Willow's and whose voice warmed him with the thrill of an immeasurable comradeship. He no longer feared him or had a suspicion of him.

It was the wanderer's intention to swing over into the country of the Great Slave, a good eight hundred miles to the north and west, before the mush-snows came. From there, when the waters opened in springtime, he planned to travel by canoe westward to the Mackenzie and ultimately to the mountains of British Columbia. These plans were changed in February. They were caught in a great storm in the Wholadala Lake country, and when their fortunes looked darkest Carvel stumbled on a cabin in the heart of a deep spruce forest, and in this cabin there was a dead man. He had been dead for many days, and was frozen stiff. Carvel chopped a hole in the earth and buried him.

The cabin was a treasure trove to Carvel and Baree, and especially to the man. It evidently possessed no other owner than the one who had died; it was comfortable and stocked with provisions; and more than that, its owner had made a splendid catch of fur before the frost bit his lungs, and he died. Carvel went over them carefully and joyously. They were worth a thousand dollars at any post, and he could see no reason why they did not belong to him now. Within a week he had blazed out the dead man's snow-covered trap-line and was trapping on his own account.

This was two hundred miles north and west of the Gray Loon, and with each day that passed, the sun rose higher in the sky; it grew warmer; the snow softened under foot, and in the air was the tremulous and growing throb of spring. With these things came the old yearning to Baree; the heart-thrilling call of the lonely graves back on the Gray Loon, of the burned cabin, the abandoned tepee beyond the pool—and of Nepeese. In his sleep he saw visions of things. He heard again the low, sweet voice of the Willow, felt the touch of her hand, was at play with her once more in the dark shades of the forest—and Carvel would sit and watch him as he dreamed, trying to read the meaning of what he saw and heard.

In April Carvel shouldered his furs up to the Hudson's Bay company's post at Lac la Biche, which was still farther north. Baree accompanied him halfway, and then—at sundown Carvel returned to the cabin and found him there. He was so overjoyed that he caught the dog's head in his arms and hugged it. They lived in the cabin until May. The buds were swelling then, and the smell of growing things had begun to rise up out of the earth. Then Carvel found the first of the early Blue Flowers.

That night he packed up. "It's time to travel," he announced to Baree. "And I've sort of changed my mind. We're going back—there." And he pointed south.

Chapter XVI

A strange humor possessed Carvel as he began the southward journey. He did not believe in omens, good or bad. Superstition had played a small part in his life, but he possessed both curiosity and a love for adventure, and his years of lonely wandering had developed in him a wonderfully clear mental vision of things, which in other words might be called singularly active imagination. He knew that some irresistible force was drawing Baree back into the south—that it was pulling him not only along a given line of the compass, but to an exact point in that line. For no reason in particular the situation began to interest him more and more, and as his time was valueless, and he had no fixed destination in view, he began to experiment. For the first two days he marked the dog's course by compass. It was due southeast. On the third morning Carvel purposely struck a course straight west. He noted quickly the change in Baree—his restlessness at first, and after that the dejected manner in which he followed at his heels. Toward noon Carvel swung sharply to the south and east again, and almost immediately Baree regained his old eagerness, and ran ahead of his master.

After this, for many days, Carvel followed the trail of the dog. "Mebby I'm an idiot, old chap," he apologized one evening. "But it's a bit of fun, after all—an I've got to hit the line of rail before I can get over to the mountains, so what's the difference? I'm game—so long as you don't take me back to that chap at Lac Bain. Now—what the devil! Are you hitting for his trap-line to get even? If that's the case—"

He blew out a cloud of smoke from his pipe as he eyed Baree, and Baree, with his head between his forepaws, eyed him back.

A week later Baree answered Carvel's question by swinging westward to give a wide berth to Post Lac Bain. It was mid-afternoon when they crossed the trail along which Bush McTaggart's traps and deadfalls had been set. Baree did not even pause. He headed due south, traveling so fast that at times he was lost to Carvel's sight. A suppressed but intense excitement possessed him, and he whined whenever Carvel stopped to rest—always with his nose sniffing the wind out of the south. Springtime, the flowers, the earth turning green, the singing of birds, and the sweet breaths in the air were bringing him back to that great Yesterday when he had belonged to Nepeese. In his unreasonable mind there existed no longer a winter. The long months of cold and hunger were gone; in the new visions that filled his brain they were forgotten. The birds and flowers and the blue skies had come back, and with them the Willow must surely have returned, and she was waiting for him now, just over there beyond that rim of green forest.

Something greater than mere curiosity began to take possession of Carvel. A whimsical humor became a fixed and deeper thought, an unreasoning anticipation that was accompanied by a certain thrill of subdued excitement. By the time they reached the old beaver-pond the mystery of the strange adventure had a firm hold on him. From Beaver-tooth's colony Baree led him to the creek along which Wakayoo, the black bear, had fished and thence straight to the Gray Loon.

It was early afternoon of a wonderful day. It was so still that the rippling waters of spring, singing in a thousand rills and streamlets, filled the forests with a droning music. In the warm sun the crimson lakneesh glowed like blood. In the open spaces the air was scented with the perfume of Blue Flowers. In the trees and bushes mated birds were building their nests. After the long sleep of winter Nature was at work in all her glory. It was Unekepesim, the Mating Moon, the Home Building Moon—and Baree was going home. Not to matehood—but to Nepeese. He knew that she was there now, perhaps at the very edge of the chasm where he had seen her last. They would be playing together again soon, as they had played yesterday, and the day before, and the day before that, and in his joy he barked up into Carvel's face, and urged him to greater speed. Then they came to the clearing, and once more Baree stood like a rock. Carvel saw the charred ruins of the burned cabin, and a moment later the two graves under the tall spruce. He began to understand as his eyes returned slowly to the waiting, listening dog. A great swelling rose in his throat, and after a moment or two he said softly and with an effort, "Boy, I guess you're home."

Baree did not hear. With his head up and his nose tilted to the blue sky he was sniffing the air. What was it that came to him with the perfumes of the forests and the green meadow? Why was it that he trembled now as he stood there? What was there in the air? Carvel asked himself, and his questing eyes tried to answer the questions. Nothing. There was death—death and desertion, that was all. And then, all at once, there came from Baree a strange cry—almost a human cry—and he was gone like the wind.

Carvel had thrown off his pack. He dropped his rifle beside it now, and followed. Baree. He ran swiftly, straight across the open, into the dwarf balsams, and into a grass-grown path that had once been worn by the travel of feet. He ran until he was panting for breath, and then stopped and listened. He could hear nothing of Baree. But that old worn trail led on under the forest trees, and he followed it.

Old Monarchical Idea

The name "Divine Right of Kings" is given to a doctrine that was promulgated in England in the Seventeenth century. It asserted that kings held their authority by divine appointment and were earthly representatives of the Deity. This principle relieved the sovereign of all responsibility toward his subjects, and gave him absolute claim to their obedience. The chief defenders of this dogma were Salmasius, Hobbes and Sir Robert Filmer; while Milton, Algernon Sydney and Harrington were its uncompromising opponents. The controversy died a natural death on the accession of the House of Hanover. In the Bill of Rights (1689) the right of the people to depose the sovereign, to alter the order of succession, and to confer the sovereignty on whomsoever they may think proper is distinctly set forth.—Kansas City Star.

Master Sculptor

Myron, the celebrated Greek sculptor, who lived in the Fifth century, B. C., was noted for the action of his statues, mainly of athletes. He showed them as actually engaged in contest rather than merely posing.

GIDEON AND THE THREE HUNDRED

LESSON TEXT—Judges 7:1-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Gideon and His Brave Band.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Brave Leader.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Gideon and the Three Hundred.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Working Together With God.

Because of Israel's sin, God permitted them to be brought under the cruel yoke of bondage at the hands of the Midianites. So grievous was this affliction that they hid in dens, caves and strongholds (Judg. 6:2). In their distress they cried unto the Lord and He sent deliverance to them through the judgeship of Gideon. The angel of the Lord appeared to him while at the post of duty. Gideon hesitated. His hesitancy was not due to unbelief but to modesty and cautiousness. He came from an obscure and unimportant family (Judg. 6:15). Before going forward in this enterprise he wished to be doubly sure that God had called him (Judg. 6:36-40). The tangible evidence was furnished by means of the fleece. Gideon began his reformatory work at once (Judg. 6:25-27). He not only began at once, but began at home. This is God's order.

I. The Opposing Armies (v. 1).
Gideon and his army arose early on the eventful day of his victory and encamped by the spring of Herod. Over against them was the host of Midianites in battle array. Gideon's army was quite insignificant in comparison with the Midianites.

II. The Sifting of Gideon's Army (vv. 2-8).

At Gideon's call, 32,000 men responded ready for the struggle. This seemed a small army to go against the Midianite army—135,000 strong, but God said even this was too many, lest they be led to boasting and self-confidence. Their real danger was not in their small army but in their pride. All that were faint-hearted were allowed to go back, leaving only 10,000. There were 22,000 cowards in that group of men and worst of all, they were not ashamed to confess it. Still, this was too many. When God was through with His sifting process only 300 remained. The 10,000 were brave men, but not of proper quality and fitness. Those who lapped the water showed alertness and watchfulness.

III. God Gives Encouragement to Gideon (vv. 9-15).

God commanded Gideon to go down to the Midianite camp where he would hear something that would cheer his heart and strengthen his hands. God always comes to cheer us when our hearts are faint. When he came near he heard a man tell a dream which was that of a barley cake tumbling into the camp and smiting it. He also heard the interpretation given to that dream which made Gideon to be that cake. This greatly cheered his heart and strengthened him for his work and caused him to break forth in praise to God. The barley cake is a very insignificant thing—a very cheap affair in itself, but with the hand of God upon it it would be sufficient to spread consternation among the Midianites and bring destruction upon their armies. No matter how weak and insignificant a man may be, if God is with him he shall not fail.

IV. God Gives Victory to Gideon (vv. 16-23).

His attack was unique. The whole matter was of faith (Heb. 11:32). The ground of his faith was God's Word and the token which He had given him. Gideon with his 300 men formed into three companies, each man being provided with a lamp concealed within a pitcher. Thus armed they surrounded the camp of the Midianites. They were all instructed to keep their eyes upon their leader and imitate him. We too are to keep our eyes on our Leader, Christ, and to ever do as He does. At the proper moment they blew their trumpets and broke their pitchers, giving opportunity for their lights to shine out. This awful crash of breaking pitchers, followed by the sound of trumpets accompanied by the shout "the sword of the Lord and of Gideon" threw the Midianites into a panic, causing them to fight amongst themselves: 120,000 were thus slain, leaving but 15,000 of that mighty army (Judg. 8:10).

In making the application to ourselves in this age, we can think of the sound of the trumpets as representing prayer or calling to God; the torches as the light of the Gospel; the pitchers our human nature, the whole as this treasure in earthen vessels.

To Be Free From Sin

If you would be free from sin, fly temptation; he that does not endeavor to avoid the one cannot expect Providence to protect him from the other.

Praying

One young person prayed once: "I can't hold much, but I can overflow a lot."—Missionary Worker.

Willful Ignorance

Willful ignorance will bring terrible damnation.—Spurgeon.

Watch Elimination!

Good Health Depends Upon Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste in the blood is called a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Thousands have learned to assist their kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. 50,000 users give Doan's signed endorsement. Ask your neighbor!

Weak Humanity.

It is as difficult to get a man to admit that he snores as it is to get a woman to admit her age.

was pronounced one of the most interesting socials ever held at the church. The general program was under the leadership of Miss Clarice Mahaffy. A feature of the evening was an "honest to goodness" indoor football game between the two famous teams the "Lions" and the and the "Tigers". The game proved to be as thrilling as any of the college "Big Ten" games of the season and while the spectators were few everyone claimed that they had big value for their money. Refreshments appropriate to the football season were served and all went home feeling that they had a "splendid time." The referee of the evening was Lester Mahaffy.

On Sunday evening Nov. 21st a very successful Intercommunity service was held in the Orland M. E. church. There were many friends present from Worth and some from Palos Park. The Rev. Paul Sanders pastor of the Worth Community church, was the general leader of the service. Special music was rendered by the Misses Mahaffy representing the Orland church and the Worth choir gave two selections. It had been expected that the pastor would speak but he "sprung a surprise" on the audience by announcing that he had asked one of his members, Miss Margaret Lysen, to deliver the message of the evening.
She did this with great credit to herself and to the appreciation of the audience. Her subject was "The Ideals of Jesus." The Rev. Sanders invited the Orland people to unite in a Young People's rally to be held at the Worth church the first Sunday evening in December.

Sickness still predominates at the parsonage so far as Mrs. Set-terlund is concerned. She has been confined to her bed the greater part of the last ten days and the pastor has been compelled to be both nurse and a housekeeper. At the present writing Mrs. Setterlund is still feeling "not so well."

ST. MICHAELS CHURCH NOTES

St. Michaels Bunco party has been postponed to Dec. 4th. The ladies of the parish are serving the lunch at the Zeimetz Sister's sale at Goodings Grove on Nov. 27th.

From Bishop Hoban comes a notice that the line of separation between the Sacred Heart Parish, Palos Park and St. Michael's Parish at Orland is 119th street. Other lines have not been officially decided upon.

Many of the congregation members are planning to see the official Eucharistic Congress picture at the Illinois Theatre, Chicago. This wonderful motion picture will give those who were unable to attend the Twenty-eighth Eucharistic Congress an opportunity to visualize its solemn magnificence.

The Peter's Pence collection was taken up last Sunday. This is an annual procedure. The money is used by the pope for charitable purposes.

W. R. Schussler expects to go to Texas by December 1st.

MOKENA

The Mokena P. T. A. sponsored a bunco party and kitchen shower at the Mokena school for Dr. and Mrs. McMahan. Saturday night.
The affair was a surprise. After the bunco party, N. F. Heiman on behalf of the P. T. A. and other friends presented the doctor and his wife with a wonderful outlay of kitchen utensils, dishes, etc. as all of their kitchen goods were lost in the recent fire. Dr. McMahan made a few well chosen remarks of appreciation.

Born last Friday at Silver Cross hospital, Joliet a daughter to Mr.
and Mrs. Jacob Knupp.

The recent bunco party held by the young folks at the St. John Evangelical parlors was well attended. A good time was had by all.

There will be Thanksgiving services at the St. John church to-morrow morning at the usual hour.

No evening services at St. John's next Sunday evening.

John F. Schultz has returned from Baraboo, Wis., where he was called by the illness of his mother.

His Instructions

The broker was very sick, and at times delirious. In one of his lucid moments he asked the nurse what the last readings had shown his temperature to be. "One hundred and one,"
she said. "Good," said the patient.
"When it gets to 101½, sell."

FRANKFORT

The Bunco party given by the Alumni of the Frankfort public school last Friday evening at the school auditorium was well attended Bunco was played at 15 tables and prizes were awarded as follows: 1st ladies, Silvia Pfaff; 2nd Ethel Weitendorf; booby, Mrs. Fred Warning.
Gents 1st Stewart Zechlin; 2nd Chester Pfaff; booby Wm. Minger.
Weinies and buns and coffee was served. A short program was given.

The Ladies Aid of the Second M.
E. church in Green Garden will meet with Mrs. Alfred Ulrich, Dec. 8th.
The B. B. C. Club will meet on Dec. 3rd with Mrs. Elridge at the home of Mrs. Chas. Balch.

Rev. Otto Frey left Monday for Riton, Wis.

The R. N. A. will give an old time dance at the Frankfort hall, December 4th. Everybody come.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M.
E. church will meet with Mrs. F.
Folkers December 1st.

Next Sunday evening there will be Bible pictures at St. Peter's church at 7:30.

Thanksgiving services will be held Thursday at 10:30 a. m., at St.
Peter's church by Rev. Gerhold.

On account of the paper being issued early this week due to Thanksgiving coming on regular publication day, many Frankfort items had to be carried over to next week.

TINLEY PARK

A good sized company gathered recently at the home of Mrs. John Boeyer to celebrate her birthday.
Bunco was played. Mrs. Boeyer was the recipient of many gifts.

Following are the winners in the recent popularity contest held at the Community hall: Mrs. Ruth Bettenhausen, Miss Esher Mesen-brink. Joe Andres guessed the correct number of beans.

The Tinley Park football team played Oak Lawn recently and lost 14 to 0. Tinley plays Midlothian on November 28th.

John Gotham sprained his ankle while playing football at school. He is able to be about again.

J. Keleher had the misfortune to slip on the railroad ties while going to work Saturday and injured his knee.

Elmer Keuch recently entertained a company of friends at a euchre party.

The Triangle club will give their first annual bunco party at the Saen-ger hall, December 1st.

The R. N. A. are planning to hold a hard time party soon.
The Public Service brought their digging machines here the past week and work on laying the gas mains in Tinley Park has begun.

IN MEMORIAM

RICK—Marie Rick. In memory of my beloved wife who entered in-

OAK LAWN

PADDY CARR

Sept. 21—1880 Nov. 16, 1926

The community and surrounding county was shocked last week with the news of "Paddy" Carr's death.

Both Paddy and Mrs. Carr are to be never forgotten for their generous help in all walks of life, never known to turn a worthy cause aside and was always ready and on the alert to do something for somebody.

He will be greatly missed by the poor this Xmas as he always found some way or means of remembering them with his donations.

His leadership and support of filling what was known as Bubbly Creek and the prospective paving of the road along that thoroughfare is a monument alone to his memory.

May God bless him and his family for all the good attained by him.

Due to Thanksgiving Day coming on our regular publication day, the News-Bulletin had to go to press a day sooner, consequently the Oak Lawn items along with those of a number of other towns had to be held over, which explains why the Oak Lawn column had to be omitted this week. A double header next week.

Fossils Used in Making Varnish.

Among the resins which are most commonly used in varnish making are various natural resins of fossil or semi-fossil origin.

Seals Once Land Animals?

Seals are probably of land origin, but have become almost perfectly adapted to life in the water. They seek land or ice floes only for breeding and rearing of young.

Knowledge Is Power

Learning makes young men temperate. Is the comfort of old age, standing for wealth with poverty, and serves as an ornament to riches.—Exchange

His Accidental End

There are all sorts of ways of putting things, and some sound much better than others. For example, there is the case of the man of whom Lord Coleridge used to tell, whose father was hanged for highway robbery.
Some one asked him how his father died. "Sir," said he "he fell from a scaffolding outside Newgate while he was talking to a clergyman."—Youth's Companion.
